

BULLETIN DE L'INSTITUT FRANÇAIS D'ARCHÉOLOGIE ORIENTALE

en ligne en ligne

BIFAO 68 (1969), p. 85-120

Mustafa El Amir

Further Notes on the Demotic Papyri in the Turin Museum.

Conditions d'utilisation

L'utilisation du contenu de ce site est limitée à un usage personnel et non commercial. Toute autre utilisation du site et de son contenu est soumise à une autorisation préalable de l'éditeur (contact AT ifao.egnet.net). Le copyright est conservé par l'éditeur (Ifao).

Conditions of Use

You may use content in this website only for your personal, noncommercial use. Any further use of this website and its content is forbidden, unless you have obtained prior permission from the publisher (contact AT ifao.egnet.net). The copyright is retained by the publisher (Ifao).

Dernières publications

9782724711523	Bulletin de liaison de la céramique égyptienne 34	Sylvie Marchand (éd.)
9782724711707	????? ?????????? ?????? ??? ?? ????????	Omar Jamal Mohamed Ali, Ali al-Sayyid Abdelatif
????? ??? ?? ??????? ?????? ?? ??????? ?????????? ????????????
????????? ??????? ?????? ?? ?????? ?? ??? ??????? ????????
9782724711400	Islam and Fraternity: Impact and Prospects of the Abu Dhabi Declaration	Emmanuel Pisani (éd.), Michel Younès (éd.), Alessandro Ferrari (éd.)
9782724710922	Athribis X	Sandra Lippert
9782724710939	Bagawat	Gérard Roquet, Victor Ghica
9782724710960	Le décret de Saïs	Anne-Sophie von Bomhard
9782724710915	Tebtynis VII	Nikos Litinas
9782724711257	Médecine et environnement dans l'Alexandrie médiévale	Jean-Charles Ducène

FURTHER NOTES ON THE DEMOTIC PAPYRI IN THE TURIN MUSEUM

(TOPOGRAPHICAL, SOCIOLOGICAL AND LEGAL STUDIES)

BY

DR. MUSTAFA EL-AMIR

In my article published in Acta Orientalia (vol. XXV, 3-4, pp. 203-228) I drew the attention of Egyptologists, particularly Demotists, to one of the most important family Archives from Thebes<sup>(1)</sup>. I also drew attention to all related Papyri scattered among museums and libraries and known as : B. M., Rylands, Strassburg, Brussels, Berlin, Louvre, Philadelphia, Cairo and others. For this reason, I presented a precise summary of the Turin Papyri and urged their publication which is highly important and eagerly awaited by Egyptologists, Lawyers and Sociologists<sup>(2)</sup>. Now, this opportunity is offered to scholars by Professor Giuseppe Botti in his fine edition titled L'Archivio Demotico da Deir El-Medineh, 2 vols. Firenze 1967.

Among all these Papyri, the Turin documents are unique. They form a compact group and constitute the largest and most important single archive from Thebes. The main interest of these documents lies in the Theban scene they present with its unbroken history of a family and its property during the whole of the 2nd century B. C. That interest is increased by the fact that they are connected with earlier documents. They refer to persons of a single family and this also gives the Papyri, apart from the intrinsic value of the individual documents, their special interest. This family should also be linked with the families comprised in Rylands, Louvre, B. M., Berlin, Philadelphia and Cairo, taking their history from the first century B. C. back to the Persian period. To obtain a true picture of the native Egyptian

<sup>(1)</sup> For these family Archives see :
GLANVILLE, Catalogue of the Demotic Papyri in the B. M., vol. I, 1939, Introduction.
MUSTAFA EL-AMIR, A Family Archive from Thebes, Part II, pp. 11-17.

SEIDL, Ptolemaïsche Rechtsgeschichte, 1962,
pp. 15-49.
<sup>(2)</sup> See Acta Orientalia, vol. XXV, 3-4,
pp. 203-228.

Society in the Ptolemaic period, scholars must study all these documents which present a marked homogeneity and constitute one Archive from Thebes.

The greater part of these documents were studied individually when they were originally edited and the reading of Demotic was mostly conjecture<sup>(1)</sup>. Since that time, considerable advance in Demotic studies has been made, therefore, a new edition of these documents based on good photographs, scientific digests, genealogies of the concerned people and history of their properties, would be valuable contribution to the study of the private life of the native Egyptians in the Ptolemaic period<sup>(2)</sup>.

In this present article, I must call particular attention to the contents of the Turin documents not claiming to give an exhaustive study for this would need a monumental work. I wish only to give a few general remarks on the different parts of the documents i. e. the date, the parties, the legal formulae, the notary and witnesses and the subject matter of the contracts. A more thorough study of the contents as revealed in these contracts will certainly add much to our knowledge of the Topography of the Theban Necropolis, the legal terms and the life of the native Egyptians who retained their old traditions and modes of life<sup>(3)</sup>.

I. — THE DATE.

These documents, with a range of more than a century, are dated from Ptolemy V Epiphanes (c. 200 B. C.) to Cleopatra III and her sons Soter II and Alexander I (c. 100 B. C.) and probably later, to Berenice III and Alexander V. One document only is dated from the 11th year of the native Pharaoh Ankhmakhis, beloved of Isis, beloved of Amen-Re the king of gods, the great god. This century is characterized with the spirit of Nationalist revolts<sup>(4)</sup> in Upper Egypt and Epiphanes did not <sup>(1)</sup> The publications of Brugsch, Revillout, Reich, Spiegelberg and others, though considered as pioneer work and outstanding achievement yet unfortunately they are often inadequate, inaccurate and misleading to those who have used them.

<sup>(2)</sup> The task of the Egyptological Historiographer who is concerned with Demotic Papyri, but of course, since he is studying Ptolemaic Egypt, must not forget the evidence of Greek Papyri.

<sup>(3)</sup> The field to be surveyed is very wide and I cannot pretend to offer more than a distant view, indicating the main points and summing up some results.

<sup>(4)</sup> These revolts spread in Upper Egypt under Ptolemy IV Philopator and lasted through the greater part of the reign of Ptolemy V Epiphanes; known in demotic Ιεράς θῆ = Greek ταραχη.

rule the whole country. The South was practically independent for many years under the rule of the two native kings, Harmakhis and Ankhmakhis. We have ten demotic documents dated in their names now scattered among the B. M., Berlin, Cairo and Turin <sup>(1)</sup>.

Some of these Turin documents were used by Sir H. Thompson in his study of the Eponymous Priests under the Ptolemies <sup>(2)</sup>. But when the texts of the dating (i. e. protocol) are examined carefully by the collation of all dates of all documents, they will solve some of the troublesome chronological problems and raise others. For the assignation of demotic documents to the reigns of Epiphanes, Philometor and his joint reign with Cleopatra II and Evergetes II and the joint reigns of Cleopatra III with her sons Soter II and Alexander I, is very complicated by the troubles which took place in their respective reigns.

The full form of the protocol in these contracts usually identified the king or queen beyond any doubt, but the abridged forms create many chronological problems. The scribes started normally with the regnal year, the name of the ruler, the priest of Alexander and then added a full list of priests and priestesses numbered thirteen in one of the documents <sup>(3)</sup>. Sometimes they started normally but did not mention priesthoods and added instead « a h n nt smn n R'-kdy.t » = « according to that established at Alexandria » or « erme p sp sh n t nhb-t n R'-kdy.t » = « and the rest of the writing of the protocol of Alexandria ». By the protocol, we usually understand the whole of the introductory matter comprising date, royal names and Eponymous priests. It is difficult to explain why the names of different kings and queens should be followed by similar qualifications and thus they mislead scholars in the assignation of the documents correctly. They cannot be slips of the scribes for they are repeated sometimes by different scribes in different archives. All protocols of all documents, should be collated and examined carefully on the light of the corresponding evidence of Greek papyri. The Turin documents are very important, as Demotic evidence, to be either supplementary or complementary to contemporary documents. The question of dating the documents is well worthy of a thorough and GLANVILLE-SKEAT, Eponymous Priesthood of Alexandria in J. E. A. 40, pp. 45-58.

<sup>(1)</sup> See PESTMAN, Harmachis et Anchmachis deux rois indigènes au temps des Ptolémées, Chronique d'Egypte XL (1965), p. 157 ff.

<sup>(2)</sup> See Studies presented to Griffith, 1932, pp. 16-29.

<sup>(3)</sup> See Acta Orientalia, op. cit., p. 221 and H. THOMPSON, op. cit., n. 22, p. 32.

study; it would require a special monograph more than that which has been attempted <sup>(1)</sup>. One example of the troublesome chronological problems of the joint reigns of Cleopatra III and Soter II and their successors was given by Reich <sup>(2)</sup>.

II. — THE PARTIES.

The titles show the different occupations and ranks of the persons mentioned in these contracts as first or second parties. The majority were in the service of Amun in his small temple at the village Jeme (Medinet-Habu) <sup>(3)</sup>. Others were in the service of Hathor in her temple at Deir-el-Medinah <sup>(4)</sup> and a comparatively small number were in the service of Montu, Sobek, Amenophis son of Hapu, Isis, Arsenophis and other deities. They were surrounded by another class of temple and / or necropolis personnel. Some of the titles which are frequent in these papyri, collated from about fourty documents, are set out in the following :

- A. Scribe, pastophoros of Amun at Jeme, prophet of Hathor Mistress of the West of Jeme, priest of all title deeds and leases of the royal scribe Amenophis son of Hapu.
- B. Pastophoros of Amun at Jeme, prophet of Hathor Mistress of the West of Jeme.
- C. Pastophoros of Amun at Jeme, prophet of Amenophis son of Hapu.
- D. Pastophoros of Amun at Jeme.
- E. Elders of the priests of Hathor.
- F. Singers of Hathor.
- G. Priest of Min-Apis, priest of Amen-R<sup>c</sup>, the Bull, Lord of Waset <sup>(5)</sup>.
- H. Manufacturer of Byssus for the Crocodile in the temple of Sobek at Jeme.
- I. Herdsman and Servant of Montu.
- J. Horseman inscribed to Hermonthis.
- K. A man who receives pay inscribed to Thebes.
- L. Priestly scribes (not the notaries).

<sup>(1)</sup> SKEAT, The reigns of the Ptolemies, MIZRAIM VI.

H. THOMPSON, The Eponymous Priests under the Ptolemies, in Studies presented to Griffith, 1932, pp. 16-29.

GLANVILLE-SKEAT, Eponymous Priesthood of Alexandria, in J. E. A. 40, pp. 45-58, and cf. GRIFFITH, Adler, giving different dates for the same protocol.

<sup>(2)</sup> See MIZRAIM III, p. 29 and SKEAT, MIZRAIM VI, pp. 28-40.

<sup>(3)</sup> See my Family Archive from Thebes, Part II, p. 59 ff.

<sup>(4)</sup> See SPIEGELBERG, Demotica II, p. 24 ff.

<sup>(5)</sup> This title occurs in the document dated 11th year of the native Pharaoh Ankhmakhis.

Some of the contracts deal with leases of land and loans of corn, but it is evident from the above list that the parties were priests i. e. men who were not expected to cultivate the land themselves. The transactions, however, show that they actually did the work of farming besides their quasi-sacerdotal functions. This may explain that when the native priests became implicated in the Upper-Egyptian revolts, the Ptolemaic authorities restricted them to the performance of minor services ; yet they still all looked to Amun for somekind of services in his small temple at Jeme and on his endowment land to secure more revenue.

These people were striving to gain their bread and one wonders whether they were aware of the great political events of that time. Like their predecessors in Pharaonic times, they were associated in guilds, the rules of which are preserved in some documents <sup>(1)</sup>. This must have given them a social solidarity comparable to that of the Phylae in the temples. They were certainly well literate ; a fact which is proved by the great number of documents which they wrote and which have come down to us in their family archives. A more thorough study of the people of Thebes and its necropolis as revealed in these Papyri will give us a clear picture of the business of common every day life, not of great historical lay-figures but of men and women who were living like ourselves.

The persons concerned in these Turin papyri are comprised in three related families. The genealogy of one of these families is set out on p. 90. We first hear of a certain Wsy-M<sup>c</sup>-R<sup>c</sup> the elder who married T-šr-t Mn and had three sons, P-šr-Mn, Pa-Wn the elder and Pa-Wn the younger. These married the women Nhm-s.'st, T-šr-t 'St (also called Ta-Kwsia) and T-šr-t 'o-pht respectively. Each of them had a son named Wsy-M<sup>c</sup>-R<sup>c</sup>, following the ancient Egyptian custom of naming the sons after the names of their grandfathers. The difficulty in building up the genealogy of this family is due to these homonyms among these cousins. But a close study of the contents of the documents shows that the central figure in these transactions was Wsy-M<sup>c</sup>-R<sup>c</sup> son of Pa-Wn the elder. In 152 B. C. he married Ta-Nfr <sup>(2)</sup> the daughter of his cousin and in 134 B. C. he divided his property among his children <sup>(3)</sup>. One of these named Twt, became the central figure for fifteen years. From

<sup>(1)</sup> See HUGHES, The Sixth day of the lunar month and the demotic word for Cult Guild, MDAIAK 16, pp. 147-160.

<sup>(2)</sup> See BOTTI, Archivio, N° 5.

<sup>(3)</sup> See BOTTI, ibid., N° 9.

115 to 101 B. C. he was a party in not less than twenty documents<sup>(1)</sup>. He may have possessed all these documents of the Turin archive either as a party named or as heir or as a trustee for his three sisters as well as for other relations.

Document No. 5 dated 31 August 152.

Wsy-M'-R<sup>c</sup> married Ta-Nfr; having made her wife, given her ten silver pieces as her bridal gift and received the woman's paraphernalia which she brought with her to his house.

Document No. 7 dated 10 December 143 B. C.

More than nine years after this marriage, the husband settled property and revenues on his wife in this form of a fictitious sale and cession (i. e. endowment arrangements made subsequent to Marriage).

( <sup>1</sup> ) These are numbered by Botti, ibid. , as follows :	N° 26 - 108 B. C. Loan of 6½ artabas of corn.
N° 12 - 115 B. C. Sale of revenue of 6 days of emolument in the cell of Arsenophis.	N° 27 - 108 B. C. Acknowledgement of payment of money.
N° 13 - 114 B. C. Loan of 10½ artabas of corn.	N° 30 - 104 B. C. Lease of 7 aruras of arable land.
N° 14 - 114 B. C. Loan of 15 artabas of corn.	N° 31 - 104 B. C. Sale and Cession of revenue of 15 days of emolument (to him by his mother).
N° 18 - 112 B. C. Cession of a cow and an ass.	N° 33 - 103 B. C. Sale and Cession of revenue of 10 days of emolument (to him by his wife).
N° 19 - 112 B. C. Lease of arable land.	N° 34 - 101 B. C. An oath before Amun king of the gods.
N° 21 - 111 B. C. Lease of revenue of 3 days of emolument in the House of the Tooth of Amenophis son of Hap.	N° 36 - 101 B. C. Lease of chests of charity of the temple of Hathor.
N° 23 - 108 B. C. Agreement in the presence of the elders of Hathor.	N° 37 - 101 B. C. Lease of land.
N° 24 - 108 B. C. Lease of 3 days of emolument in the House of the Tooth of Amenophis son of Hapu.	N° 40 - 101 B. C. An oath before Amun-hmn- <sup>2</sup> w.
	N° 44 - Payment of 1100 pieces of Silver to his brother in law, etc.

Document No. 9 dated 7 May 134 B. C.

Again after nine years later, the husband made a deed of apportionment to his sons.

Therefore, this is another piece of evidence to support the theory that marriage in Upper Egypt in the Ptolemaic period could not be consummated without a written document (sh n hm.t or dm<sup>c</sup> n hm.t). Then endowment arrangements were made later (sh n s<sup>c</sup>nh). Still, later and after the birth of children another deed was made, dividing property among them as co-heirs<sup>(1)</sup>. This upper Egyptian custom in marriage must not be confused with the Lower Egyptian custom. Bouche-Leclercq, is right when he speaks of «Mariage à la mode Thébaine» and «Mariage à la mode Memphis». The custom is still preserved in Egypt where an Upper Egyptian marriage differs from a Lower Egyptian marriage in many ways<sup>(2)</sup>.

III. — THE LEGAL FORMULAE.

The legal formulae are more or less stereotyped both in content and in order and prevail throughout the different types of contracts. They furnish and explain many examples of less common legal terms and provide valuable material of various kinds which reflect the customs and the laws of native Egypt. Since this material is one of the precursors of Roman Law, it is indispensable for a comparative study to show the influence of Egyptian Law on Greek and Roman Laws<sup>(3)</sup>.

A general study of the Turin Archive reveals a constant form with the recurrence of the same legal formulae in the different types of contracts. The opening words of the contract vary according to the nature of the transaction. These words provide

<sup>(1)</sup> Cf. NIMS, A Demotic Document of endowment etc., MDAIAK 16, pp. 237-246.

PESTMAN, Marriage and Matrimonial Property in Ancient Egypt, chap. I, and passim.

SEIDL, Ptolemaïsche Rechtsgeschichte, 1962, p. 170 ff.

EL AMIR, A Family Archive from Thebes, «Further notes on Marriage» etc.

<sup>(2)</sup> See EDGERTON, Notes on Egyptian marriage

etc., p. 9.

Demotic documents of marriage from Thebes should be studied separately and not to be confused with those from the Fayum.

<sup>(3)</sup> See REVILLOUT, Origines égyptiennes du droit civil romain, Paris 1912.

TAUBENSCHLAG, The Law of Greco-Roman Egypt in the light of the Papyri, New York 1944.

us with the designation for the different types of contracts which may be roughly classed as follows <sup>(1)</sup> :

A. Sales (sh etbe ht) and cessions (sh wy).

In the sale of real property or revenue, Egyptian Law required two different documents ; the first is the συγγραφὴ πρόσεως (Dem. sh etbe ht)=agreement for sale, the second is the συγγραφὴ αποστασιοῦ (Dem. sh wy)=cession or conveyance. This can be interpreted sometimes as fictitious when it is made by a mother to her son or by a husband to his wife.

B. Official Copy of a sale (h sh etbe ht). Copies were sometimes written after the protocol and the initial words. The copy represented the Greek ἀντιγραφον in Canopus 19-70 <sup>(2)</sup>. The use of h occurs as early as Dyn. XXI <sup>(3)</sup>.

C. Wills, in the form of sales from mother to son and cessions from husband to wife. The wills (ωνη-αποστασιοῦ) in the form of fictitious sales or cessions are in fact settlements or apportionments of property ineffective before the death of their donor i. e. they were Donationes mortis causa.

D. Division or apportionment among heirs (sh n tnt). There is, however, another class of documents known as « writing of Division » (sh tnt). This class may be considered as wills made by parents to be executed during their life i. e. Divisio inter Liberos <sup>(4)</sup>.

E. Leases of Land (shn), leases of revenue (shn) and locations of houses, rooms and other places (shn). In these papyri one Demotic term is applied for leases of land (μισθωσις), leases of revenue of days of emolument (ἡμεραι ἀγνευτικαι) and locations of places (Locatio conductio rei). The lease was made for a single year, sometimes for two or five years in certain cases. The lease of land was usually made for one year, from the inundation of a certain year to the inundation of the next and the lessee could not claim its renewal for another year.

<sup>(1)</sup> The legal contents of these documents may be explained on the same principles which I pointed out in my study of the Philadelphia - Cairo Archive. See : A Family Archive from Thebes, Part II, p. 106 ff.

<sup>(2)</sup> See THOMPSON, Siu, B. I, 1, p. 12, n. 1.

<sup>(3)</sup> See GRIFFITH, Rylands III, p. 247, n. 6.

<sup>(4)</sup> See TAUBENSCHLAG, op. cit.

F. Loans of money or corn (smbwl) =  $\sigma\mu\beta\omega\sigma$ . When these loans of corn are studied in conjunction with the leases of land, it is evident that the corn is used as seed-corn and not for ordinary consumption.

G. Receipts ('s.w) or acknowledgements of payments of rents ('s.w n mh). These are written without protocols and sometimes no scribe was required to draw them up.

H. Affidavits ('nh); the oath was prescribed by the law of Bocchoris <sup>(1)</sup>. In the Demotic contracts, one of the clauses which make up the legal formula is : . . . « the oath or the confirmation that shall be imposed on thee in the court of justice . . . ». The oath was imposed on the party by the Judge for purposes of proof. In Islamic Shari'a, the proof is imposed on him who claims and the oath is imposed on him who denies . . . . In these Turin documents, the oath was taken by the life of Amun king of the gods and Amun-hmn'w, probably at the dromos of his small temple at Medinet-Habu.

I. Marriages (dm'n hm-t) <sup>(2)</sup> and Divorce (h' n hm-t). According to Egyptian Law either husband or wife was entitled to divorce the other. This is clear from the frequent clause in marriage contracts, « . . . If I abandon thee as wife and hate thee and marry another woman . . . » « . . . If I abandon thee as husband and hate thee and marry another man . . . ». In the latter case, the woman had the right to divorce her husband i. e. the immunity is in the hand of the wife . . . . The reason for divorce is the great sin which is found in women namely Adultery or sterility. This is mentioned in marriage contracts not in the divorce. Four witnesses only were required to attest a divorce <sup>(3)</sup> واللاتي يأتين الفاحشة من نسائكم فاستشهدوا عليهن أربعة منكم.

<sup>(1)</sup> For the Oath see SEIDL, Der Eid im Ptol. Recht.

<sup>(2)</sup> For the different hypothesis on marriage see : SEIDL, Ptolemaïsche Rechtsgeschichte, 1962, p. 170 ff.

PESTMAN, Marriage and Matrimonial Property in Ancient Egypt.

<sup>(3)</sup> Cf. Quran, Sura IV, Women « If any of your women (i. e. wives) be guilty of whoredom, then bring four witnesses against them from among yourselves ».

J. Agreements (n hn-w)<sup>(1)</sup>. The agreements concerning money and property were made in the presence of four elders.

IV. — THE NOTARIES AND WITNESSES.

As we should have expected, all the scribes have Egyptian names mostly Theophoric, derived from the local cults. Some of them are native names common at the village Jeme or at the neighbouring villages. A careful study of the scribes' names of the Turin papyri shows that they are also known to us from other documents in the Louvre, Berlin and other museums<sup>(2)</sup>. They belonged to a family of scribes well known at Jeme from the early Ptolemaic period. When the genealogies of all these scribes are set out and the relationships are determined, they should provide a successive list from Ptolemy V Epiphanes to Ptolemy X Alexander I and Berenice III (i. e. from 200 to 80 B. C.). Other documents provided us formerly with a list of scribes from Khabbash to Ptolemy IV Philopator (i. e. from 334 to 210 B. C.). On the strength of the Egyptian system of filiation and since the occupations were inherited from father to son in the ancient Egyptian society, it can be assumed that the members of that family of scribes occupied the profession from a time prior to the conquest of Alexander the great till the end of the Ptolemaic period<sup>(3)</sup>.

A closer study of scribes would require all Demotic Archives from Thebes to be surveyed and arranged chronologically; a task which should prove of interest in many directions. The names of these scribes can solve many problems of chronology where the documents dispense with the ruler's name and make it difficult to assign exact dates, especially for minor papyri and Ostraca.

The majority of the Turin documents were drawn up by the scribe Hns-te-f-nht son of Hr-s-'St. His father Hr-s-'St son of Hns-te-f-nht before him and his son Hr-s-'St son of Hns-te-f-nht, during his life and after his death, were also scribes. They are well known from other documents in the Louvre, Berlin and other museums.

<sup>(1)</sup> For this term see : NIMS, J. E. A. 24 (1938), p. 99 and cf. GRIFFITH, Dodecaschoenus N° 218-219.

<sup>(2)</sup> See my summary in Acta Orientalia, op. cit., p. 206-9, p. 208, 20, p. 212, 30, p. 215, 38 etc.

<sup>(3)</sup> See my Demotic Papyrus from Pathyrus : Etud. Pap., vol. VIII, p. 66, 4.
GRIFFITH, Adler, p. 67, and SEIDL, Demot. Urkund.

ჰr-s-’St, the father wrote the Turin documents numbered 4, 9, 10, 16 dated 159-134-121-114 B. C. respectively i. e. he held that office for more than 45 years. ჰns-te-f-nht wrote more than ten documents of Turin dated from 112 to 100 B. C. ჰr-s-’St, his son started on 101 B. C. (Turin No. 37). Brothers and cousins of the same family were also scribes and sometimes parties or witnesses in the same archive.

Pa-htr son of P-a-te-’St, the scribe of Turin documents numbered 3, 5, 6, 7 dated 171-152-150-143 B. C. respectively was also the son of a scribe and the father of another well known in the Demotic archives from Thebes. His father Pa-te-’st son of Pa-htr wrote one document only in the Turin archive No. 1 dated 188 B. C. But we know from the Louvre 2415 and B. M. 10073 and Berlin 3145 for example, that he started in 228 B. C. i. e. he held his office for about 40 years <sup>(1)</sup>.

Ns-Mn son of Pa-by, the scribe of Turin N° 8 dated 137 B. C., Berlin 3080 dated 133 B. C. and Louvre 2418 dated 120 B. C. as well as other documents, was a well known member of a family of scribes in the Theban archives <sup>(2)</sup>. The importance of scribes in solving chronological problems can be shown in the following example <sup>(3)</sup> :

Medinet-Habu Ostraca I (MH 528) should be dated 30th year of Ptolemy VI Philomator i. e. 152-151 B. C. since the scribe was ჰr-s-’st son of ჰns-te-f nht, who held his office between 159 and 112 B. C. But the Ostraca 3 (MH 461) and 4 (MH 459) and 5 (MH 460), should be dated 29th year of Ptolemy VIII Evergetes II i. e. 142-141 B. C. since the scribe was Ns-Mn son of Pa-by who held his office about that time.

Ns-Mn son of Pa-by wrote « in the name of the priests of Amen-R<sup>c</sup>, King of the gods and the gods Euergetai, the gods Philopatores, the gods Epiphaneis, the god Philometor and the god Eupator of the 5 orders ». The meaning of this, is well known from the decrees of Canopus and Rosetta. The five classes of priests certainly existed in the temple of Amun but from these five orders, the 5th only had the right of drawing up contracts. A simple prophet represented the sacerdotal college at the village <sup>(4)</sup>.

<sup>(1)</sup> See my summary Acta Orientalia, op. cit., p. 206, 9 and p. 212, 30 : BOTTI, Archivio.

<sup>(2)</sup> In 113 B. C. the scribe Nht-Hr was described as the agent of Ns-Mn son of Pa-by in Berlin 3103.

<sup>(3)</sup> See M. LICHTHEIM, Demotic Ostraca from Medinet Habu, pp. 9-11 and p. 56.

<sup>(4)</sup> See REVILLOUT, Chrest. Demot., p. x.

Pa-htr son of P-a-te-’st wrote « in the name of the stipendiary-woman the priestess of Amun T-śrt-Ḥns daughter of the divine father Ns-pe-w t’ the prophet of Jeme » (e. g. Tur. 5 dated 152 B. C.). Ḥr-s-’st and his son Ḥns-te-f nht, wrote « in the name of Ns-p-mty son of Wsr-Wr, the prophet of Jeme. It is perhaps tempting to suggest that the latter was a descendant of Wsr-Wr son of Ns-pe-w t’, the scribe of B. M. 10530 dated 283 B. C. at the end of the reign of Ptolemy I Soter and the beginning of Ptolemy II Philadelphus.

These notaries were public officials who received all kinds of transactions and contracts to which the parties must or wish to give an authentic character. They put the date, preserved copies in the archive and delivered others when needed. They must have been acquainted with the legal procedure and the law of the country. Minor documents, however, did not need a notary, they were drawn up privately by the parties themselves <sup>(1)</sup>. Many names of future scribes first occurred in the witness lists. The palaeography of these lists shows that the witnesses’ names were sometimes written by the scribe, but that in most cases they were signatures of the individuals named. It is interesting to notice that all of them are men, never a woman ; all are Egyptians, never a Greek <sup>(2)</sup>.

Considering the large number of documents, each with its sixteen witnesses, coming from a small district, we must conclude that the majority of the people were at least semi-literate and must have been able to read the documents which they attested. In the course of my studies, I have collected more than four thousand names from Upper Egyptian contracts from the Ptolemaic period. They have been used in collecting names for the « Demotisches Namenbuch » which is being compiled by the Akademie der Wissenschaften und der Literatur in Mainz under the direction of Professor E. Lüdeckens <sup>(3)</sup>. On the strength of filiation and dating we can safely assume that many names in the Turin documents occur in the related papyri and Ostraca <sup>(4)</sup>. The corresponding transactions and the dating may support this

<sup>(1)</sup> Viz. Acknowledgements of payments, loans, receipts, affidavits etc.

<sup>(2)</sup> In the later Ptolemaic period we meet with Greek names e. g. Tur. 22 witness 14, Pl. XXVII Anfiaraos son of Hermias and 14, Pl. XLII Apollonio son of Menokles.

<sup>(3)</sup> See Yarbuch of the Akademie, 1961, pp. 165-166.

<sup>(4)</sup> Cf. the names which occur in the Louvre and Berlin documents. Cf. also the names which occur in the Demotic Ostraca from Medinet-Habu, by M. LICHTHEIM, e. g. Ostraca N° 126, a transfer of wheat, gives the following names : P-śr-Mn son of Py-k’, P-śr-’o-pht son of Ḥr-p’St, P-śr. ’Mn son of Pa-Dm’ : Ostraca N° 128, a receipt for rent assumption. Generally, the clue to the correct translation and interpretation of a document will depend upon the accurate reading of the proper names<sup>(1)</sup>. The study of these names, their interpretation and their connexion with local cults should prove of interest. It would require a special treatise.

V. — THE SUBJECT MATTER OF THE TURIN CONTRACTS.

This may comprise real property or chattels, services or revenues. In dealing with property (lands, houses, rooms, cells, chapels or any other places) a precise description as to its situation is always given and consists of some topographical indications accompanied by a statement of its neighbouring properties. In dealing with revenues (from services or liturgies), the Turin papyri, like any other family archive from Thebes, contain a great amount of Sociological and Religious material which reflect the daily life of the people. This part of the contract provides the material for the study of the topography of the village Jeme in the later Ptolemaic period. The B. M., Berlin, Louvre, Philadelphia and Cairo papyri provided the material for that topography in the early Ptolemaic period<sup>(2)</sup>. This is essential not only for the understanding of the papyri themselves but it is also a valuable guide to the Archaeologists in the field.

This present article is confined to give a few general remarks on topographical, sociological and legal aspects of the Turin Papyri. No attempt has been made to give a comprehensive study of the concerned families and the history of their properties. This should be left to a special treatise from which, I am aware, many important results should follow.

1. — TOPOGRAPHICAL SITES.

Ne = Thebes, the city.

W's-t = Thebes, the nome ; Amun Lord of Waset.

of leased land gives the following names : Ḥr-s'-st son of P-śr-ḥns, Iwf-ənl, son of P-śr'-Mn. The lists of names on Ostr. Nos. 133 and 134 give : Pa'-Ry son of Pa'-Ry, P-a-te-p-šy son of Py-k', Pa-nfr son of Ns-ne-w ḥmn'-w, P-śr-Mn son of Ns-new-ḥmn'-w etc. All these names occur in the Turin Papyri either as parties or witnesses.

<sup>(1)</sup> Scholars who ignore the accurate reading of the names and use instead : A son of B hath said to C son of D, fall in a grave mistake. We must know the relation between A and C, B and D, in order to give the right designation to the document.

<sup>(2)</sup> See EL-AMIR, A Family Archive from Thebes, Part II, p. 59 ff.

Iwn-Sm<sup>c</sup> var. Iwn-Mont = Hermonthis ; Montu Lord of Hermonthis <sup>(1)</sup>.

Dm<sup>c</sup> = Jeme, the village at Medinet-Habu <sup>(2)</sup>.

p sbt Dm<sup>c</sup> var. p sbt 'o n Dm<sup>c</sup> = the great wall of Jeme.

t 'we.t mhy.t n Dm<sup>c</sup> = The northern district of Jeme.

t 'we.t rsy.t n Dm<sup>c</sup> hñ p sbt n Dm<sup>c</sup> = The southern district of Jeme within the wall of Jeme.

p hyr n Pr-'o = the King's Street.

p hyr n t Pr-'o.t = the Queen's Street.

t hyr.t = the Lane <sup>(3)</sup>.

p myt n Pr-'o = the path of the King.

t myt n 'Mn-Dm<sup>c</sup> = the path of Amun of Jeme (i. e. of his procession).

p 'rpe n Ht-Hr hñt 'mntr n Dm<sup>c</sup> = the temple of Hathor-Mistress of the west of Jeme <sup>(4)</sup>.

nt hr t hst n Dm<sup>c</sup> = which is in the necropolis of Jeme.

(var.) nt hr p tw n Dm<sup>c</sup> = which is on the mountain of Jeme.

hft-h n p 'rpe n Ht-Hr = the Dromos of the temple of Hathor.

t gwt n Ht-Hr ~~εψεις~~ = the gwt of Hathor = the shrine of Hathor? <sup>(5)</sup> t 'b.t n 'st hr-ib Dm<sup>c</sup> = The chapel of Isis at Jeme ~~εψεις~~.

(var.) t 'b.t n 'st n Dm<sup>c</sup> (BOTTI, Archivio, p. 45, 6) ~~εψεις~~.

p šty n Ht-Hr ~~εψεις~~ = Crypt? collection? liturgie di Hathor?

This word occurs in the expression « ... days of emolument in the šty of Hathor

Sir H. Thompson (suit A, 9) = a place dug, if it is determined with water = reservoir. Mattha (Demotic Ostraca p. 217) = collection, p šty n 'st = the collection of Isis. ERICHSEN, Glossar p. 528. Botti (Archivio, p. 149) = liturgie di Hathor.

<sup>(1)</sup> Cf. BOTTI, Archivio, p. 253, who reads W's.t-Šm<sup>c</sup>.

<sup>(2)</sup> Cf. BOTTI, ibid., who takes Jeme as Deir-el-Medinah and cf. my study on the topography in Family Archive from Thebes where Jeme was located at Medinet-Habu in the Ptolemaic period. See also GARDINER, Wilbour II, p. 27, n. 2.

<sup>(3)</sup> See my article : Note on t hyr.t in boundaries of Ptolemaic houses at Thebes, ASAE LII, pp. 135-138.

<sup>(4)</sup> The temple of Hathor at Deir-el-Medinah ; its name did not occur in the earlier documents since its building started in the time of Ptolemy IV Philopator.

<sup>(5)</sup> See GRIFFITH, Dodecaschoenus N° 360. Cf. frutto di Hathor, translated by BOTTI, op. cit., p. 181, n. 7. Cf. H. THOMPSON, Dem. Ostr., p. 40-41, where the word occurs as p gwt (masc.) = a title always associated with a temple or god ; he was probably a priest. Cf. also GRIFFITH, ibid., N° 871 gwte n 'st = temple official and N° 851 gwte n 'st-Ht-Hr. See ERICHSEN, Glossar 574 = chapel, shrine and p. 570 and  Wb. 5, 150 = chapel.

p šty n 'Mn 'py ~~प्राची~~ ; occurs in the expression describing 7 aruras of high-land « nt hr p htp-ntr 'Mn n p šty n 'Mn 'py » = which are in the divine-endowment of Amun p šty of Amenopi (see BOTRI, Archivio, p. 142).

t ht n Sbk n Dm' = the temple of Sobek at Jeme (see ibid., p. 98 n. 1).

p 'kb n Mn ~~प्राची~~ = the 'kb of Min ; occurs in describing the western boundary of a field as : p bw nt hn p 'kb n Mn = the high-land which is in the 'kb of Min. Probably it is « un recinto reservato al culto di Min » (see ibid.,
 p. 185 n. 2).

t ry.t n 'R-hms-nfr = the cell of Arsenophis or chapel of Arsenophis.

p šš n t ry.t n 'R-hms-nfr = the shrine of the cell of Arsenophis.

t k-t ry.t n 'R-hms-nfr = the other cell of Arsenophis.

These chapels of Arsenophis were situated in the Southern district of Jeme within the wall. They are mentioned in a document of location between two pastophoroi of Amun at Jeme dated 112 B. C. (Tur. N° 17, BOTRI, Archivio, p. 111). The topography of this part of the village derived from this document is the following :

p šl hry p šl hry (n 'Mn-htp š Hp) = The Upper House of the Tooth and the Lower House of the Tooth (of Amenophis son of Hapu) ~~प्राची/माय30.प्राची3~~. or p šl hry p šl hry (n 'R-hms-nfr) = The Upper House of the Tooth and the Lower House of the Tooth (of Arsenophis).

For reading šl, see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 518 ; for reading ml, see REICH, B. M. 10226.

Cf. GRIFFITH, Dodecaschoenus, p. 45, Ph. 24.

pr Pr-o = King's Estate .

p r' Pr-o = Kings Thesaurus (royal granary) .

p 'yš n Pr-o = the King's Bank  ; where a peasant paid money and a diaypaxphi was made to him. The demotic equivalent is given as  tyglp (see Turin, N° 3, l. 5).

var.  ty'grph' (see Turin, N° 4, l. 21).

Cf. THOMPSON, Siut B. VI. 13-17  tygrpw ; for the function of this Bank see : Claire PRÉAUX, L'Economie Royale des Lagides, p. 285.

p mw Pr-o = the King's water i. e. the main stream of the Nile  see GRIFFITH, Adler 7, p. 83 and BOTTI, Testi Demotici, p. 7, N° 8.

'y n wy' = tillage House? = farmer's Department? .

p ht  : a field which is called p ht which is in the divine-endowment of Amun p šty of Amenopi (cf. Berlin 3102 and HUGHES, Saite Demotic leases, p. 72).

šnw  = acacia trees : the field is described together with its šnw or šn'w : See GRIFFITH, Ryl. HI, 394. Cf. ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 515. Cf. THOMPSON, Siut, p. 127.

p bw n ltm = the high-land of trees .

n bnet-w = the palm-trees .

n nhe-w = the sycomore-trees .

p sp šn nb nt rt hn-s = the rest of every tree which grows in it .

p yh šn' = the wood-land? .

'tn = land .

p t-mw hn p yh  = (a cultivated parcel? in the field).

p m' n Dm' = the canal of Jeme .

t 'm-t n Stn = the loam-island of Stn .

Stn  = a name of a stream?

sb  = a water-course ; a well?

p šy  = the pool.

st-mnyt = Pigeon-House  (See ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 161).

t n'yt = the Mill?  (Cf. BOTTI, Archivio, p. 47 note 1).

t 'f-t n bft-h n p 'rpe n Ht-Hr = the chest of charity in the Dromos of the temple of Hathor .

t 'st 2 n p tme = the two chests of charity in the town መመመ-ፋፋ-ፋፋ.

'Mn n t sht = Amun of the field. This may be a name of a Statue of Amun. Cf. Amun of the Way ; Amun of the Island (GARDINER, Onomastica II, 112). In the Turin document N° 4, l. 18, a field is described as : in the divine endowment of Amun of the field መመመ-ፋፋ<sup>(1)</sup>.

The topography of this part of the northern district of Jeme derived from this Turin document is the following :

p kl n H'py = the bank of the Nile መመመ-ፋፋ-ፋፋ (see Tur. 25 B, l. 13). The buildings n kt-w which are situated on the bank of the River may be potteries ፋፋ-ፋፋ.

t me n 'Mn = The island of Amun ፋፋ-ፋፋ which made the northern boundary to the ht መመመ-ፋፋ which measured  $7\frac{1}{2}$  aruras.

2. — PRIESTLY TITLES AND LITURGICAL SERVICES.

Wn n 'Mn Dm' = Pastophoros of Amun-Jeme (For the interpretation and function of Wn, see my Family Archive from Thebes, Part II, p. 118).

hm-ntr Ht-Hr hnt 'mntt n Dm' = Prophet of Hathor-Mistress of the West of Jeme.

Wn n 'Mn Dm' hm-ntr w'b wn knbt nb shn nb n Ht-Hr hnt 'mntt n 'st hr-ib Dm' = Pastophoros of Amun of Jeme, prophet, priest, archivist of all title-deeds and leases of Hathor-Mistress of the West of Jeme and Isis residing at Jeme.

<sup>(1)</sup> May be a statue of Amun in the field.

Wn n 'Mn Dm' hm-ntr w'b wn knb nb shn nb n sh nsw 'Mn-htp s Hp = Pastophorus of Amun of Jeme, prophet, priest, archivist of all title-deeds and leases of the royal scribe Amenophis son of Hapu.

Wn n 'Mn Dm' w'b Mn-Hp hm-ntr Ht-Hr hnt 'mntr = Pastophoros of Amun of Jeme, priest of Min-Apis, prophet of Hathor Mistress of the West.

W'b Mn-Hp w'b 'Mn-R' k' nb Ws.t = Priest of Min-Apis, priest of Amen-R' the Bull-Lord of Waset (this title occurs in the document dated Ankhmakhis).

Sh wn n 'Mn n Dm' hm-ntr n Ht-Hr hnt 'mntr hm-ntr w'b wn knb nb shn nb n sh nsw 'Mn-htp s Hp NN p rt n Ht-Hr = Scribe, psatophoros of Amun of Jeme, prophet of Hathor-Mistress of the West, prophet, priest, archivist of all title-deeds and all leases of the royal scribe Amenophis son of Hapu NN, the agent of Hathor.

Wn 'Mn Dm' hm-ntr sh nsw 'Mn-htp s Hp = Pastophoros of Amun of Jeme prophet of the royal scribe Amenophis son of Hapu.

n w'b.w n 'Mn-R' nsw ntr.w n p 5 s'.w = the priests of Amen-R', king of the gods, of the 5 orders.

n w'b-w n Mnt = the Priests of Montu (Reference is to the priests of Montu from the 21th to the 28th Dyn. Cf. GAUTHIER, Cercueils Anthropoides des Prêtres de Montou, Cat. Gen., Le Caire 1912-1913).

n hl-<sup>c</sup>y:w n n w<sup>b</sup>b:w n Ht-Hr = the elders of the priests of Hathor.

p hs (or n hs.w) n Ht-Hr = the singer (or singers) of Hathor.

'm-bk Mnt nb Iwn-šm' = Servant of Montu, Lord of Hermouthis.

rm e.f'r mnḥ n p msh n t ht Sbk n Dm<sup>c</sup>=the manufacturer of Byssus for the crocodile in the temple of Sobek at Jeme.

wh-mw = Choachyte.

hm-ntr = prophetship (in the expression tnt n hm-ntr n p 'rpe n Ht-Hr = share of prophetship in the temple of Hathor).

hw n snh = day of emolument<sup>(1)</sup> 61-1-5-2.

<sup>(1)</sup> Cf. hw n šms=day of service. Cairo 30617 a, p. 56-57, pl. 27-28 and 'bt n ht-ntr=month of the temple services: THOMPSON, Theban Ostraca, pp. 51-56 and Pap. Tebt. 1, 88 ἡμέραι λειτουργικαι.

<sup>(2)</sup> See REICH, MIZRAIM I, p. 190.

See REICH, MATERIAH 1, p. 100.

r' n hw 5 hb.w = the income<sup>(1)</sup> of the five Epagomenal days ፩፪፲.

sisnt = Sixth day festival<sup>(2)</sup> ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n tħb.w = anointings, libations<sup>(3)</sup> ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n šms.w = divine-services ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n 'rš.w = mortuary-services<sup>(4)</sup> ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n šty.w = salaries, remunerations ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n 'hy.w = stipends<sup>(5)</sup> ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

n htp.w = the offerings ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

p 'p n Ht-Hr = the account of Hathor ፩፪፲.

n gll.w n Pr-o.w = the burnt-offerings for the Kings ፩፪፲, ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲.

3. — LEGAL TECHNICAL TERMS AND STIPULATIONS.

sh etbe ht ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= agreement for sale.
sh wy ፩፪፲	= Cession, Conveyance <sup>(6)</sup> .
sh tnt pš ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= deed of apportionment (division).
sh r'-wh ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= claim of debt.
sh n s'nb ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= deed of endowment.
's.w n mh ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= payment receipt.
's e.f 'h rt ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= official receipt.
smbwl ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= Loan (bond) σύμβολον.
shn ፩፪፲	= Lease (or location) contract.
dm' n hp ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲	= Statute Book, Code.

<sup>(1)</sup> BOTTI, Archivio, p. 265 translates r' = magazine (granary) for the necessary provisions for the festival days.

<sup>(2)</sup> See HUGHES, The Sixth day of the Lunar Month and the Demotic Word for «Cult Guild» in MDAIAK 16, pp. 147-160 (examples see infra, p. 119).

<sup>(3)</sup> Cf. ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 653-654 = anoint ፩፪፲ Wb. ፩፪፲ ፩፪፲ 5, 326. የወጪ, CRUM, Copt. Dict. 457 b. GRIFFITH, Ryl. III, p. 97, n. 1, p. 238, n. 5.

Cf. THOMPSON, Theban Ostraca, D. 235. tħb=libation see Ursula K. HELK, Orien- talia Suecana, vol. VIII (1959), p. 57.

<sup>(4)</sup> šms and 'rš; two words mostly mentioned together, see GRIFFITH, Ryl. III, p. 319.

ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 511 and 66. Cf. Greek λειτουργιῶν καὶ τωναλλῶν.

<sup>(5)</sup> It is difficult to differentiate between these words; the verbs used with them may clear the meaning: 'r šms.w 'rš.w = to perform divine and mortuary services t šty.w 'hy.w = to receive salaries and stipends.

<sup>(6)</sup> Cf. PIRENNE, L'écrit pour argent et l'écrit de cession dans l'ancien droit égyptien, Rev. Inter. des Droits de l'antiquité, t. I, Bruxelles 1948.

<sup>10</sup>) Agreements between parties made in the presence of the elders of the priests of Hathor. Cf. GRIFFITH, Dodecaschoenus N°s 218-219 where the word is translated inquiry. See NIMS, J. E. A. 24 (1938), p. 79.

<sup>(2)</sup> Lit.=according to the order of Pharaoh.

<sup>(3)</sup> Lit.=according to the word of Pharaoh.

<sup>(4)</sup> In addition to the passages quoted by Nims in JNES, VII (1948), pp. 243-260 where «hp» means law, custom, order, justice or right; there are other passages where «hp» means obligation either unilateral, bilateral or reciprocal i. e. a legal-lien in the contractual stipulations mostly in leases of revenues and lands and in locations of houses, rooms and other places.

<sup>(5)</sup> e. g. « hy nb he nb e'r-f n p'rpe n

Ht-Hr=every cost and every expense which he has incurred in the temple of Hathor. See REICH, MIZRAIM I, p. 552. Cf. hy 'o 23.7m = cost of transport (on donkey) Pap. Lille 30, Pl. 17.

<sup>(6)</sup> In contracts of Loan of corn. See REICH, MIZRAIM II, p. 47.

<sup>(7)</sup> See ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 389 var. hrw=offering for the dead (pr hr w), cf. feeding place in my article Note on t hyr-t etc., ASAE, t. LIII, pp. 135-138.

<sup>(8)</sup> Frequent in Marriage Settlements e.g. Louvre 2433. Rev. Egypt. I. 3.

(9) e. g. n ht-w nt hry hn<sup>c</sup> pe-w hl nt hry =
the aforesaid money together with its penalty (or interest) aforesaid. Pap. Berlin 3101; REVILLOUT, Nouv. Chrest. Demot., p. 121.

hre ↔/5

= demands, requisite, food, offering. These two words are sometimes mixed together. Ex. : bn e-y r̄h dd t̄e-y n-k pr h̄l nt nb = I shall not be able to say « I have given to thee seed, new money or anything ... See REICH, MIZRAIM III, p. 28, l. 19 and HUGHES-NIMS, AJSLL, LVII, p. 252.

NOTE ON P LWH ↴↓↙↙.

In these Turin papyri, an explicit stipulation appears regularly in different kinds of contracts of leases, but its meaning has not been determined exactly<sup>(1)</sup>. Some examples of its different uses are set out here for reference :

(1) in leases of revenues.

(a) Tur. 21, l. 18-19, mte pe-k r̄t dd pe-f lwh n šms erme-y nt hr̄-y mh̄-k pe-w škr ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ = thy agent is to cite its accusation of service against me which is due from me to pay you their rent.

(b) Tur. 25<sup>A</sup>, l. 15-16, mte pe-t r̄t dd pe-f lwh n thb šms erme-y ...
 ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ = thy agent is to cite its accusation of libation and service against me ...

(2) in locations of houses rooms and other places.

(a) Tur. 17, l. 14-15, mte pe-k r̄t dd pe-f lwh n hr̄h erme-y e'r p lwh p nby n ne-k 'y-w hry ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ = thy agent is to cite its accusation of maintenance with me against the injury and the damage of thy Upper-floor ...

(b) Tur. 25<sup>B</sup>, l. 15-16, mte pe-t r̄t dd pe-f lwh n hr̄h erme-y e'r p lwh p nby n hr̄h n pe-t 'y ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ ↴↓↙↙ = thy agent is to cite ac-

<sup>(1)</sup> SETHE, Bürgs., p. 171=Beschuldigung, 65=accusation.

Worwurf.

BOTTI, Archivio, p. 265=accusa, rimpro-

ERICHSEN, Glossar 261=Worwurf, Sünde.

vero, biasimo.

HUGHES, Saite Dem. Leases, p. 46 and 64-cusation of maintenance with me against the injury and the damage for the protection of thy house.

(3) in leases of land.

Tur. 25 c, l. 15-16, mte pe·t rt dd pe·f lwḥ n wy<sup>c</sup> erme-y nt hr-y mh·t n pe·w par šmw hw hwty ~~—un coup de folie—~~ = thy agent is to cite its accusation of cultivation against me which is due from me to pay to thee their harvest-tax and the surplus of farmer etc.

It is evident from the above examples that we have three different cases in which the word lwḥ is used. These are :

lwḥ n thb šms	— in the lease of services
lwḥ n hrḥ	— in the lease of houses
lwḥ n wy<sup>c</sup>	— in the lease of lands

The different meanings given to this term are : offence, injury, insult, sin, reproach ; Sottas (Pap. Lille 5, Pl. II lettre supplique) gave an example : w<sup>c</sup> sh lwḥ ~~—un coup de folie—~~ = un coup de folie. But the meaning in the above examples has something to do with guarantee against negligence. Though I used the translation of Sethe and Hughes i. e. accusation, the term should be studied on the light of the Turin Papyri and Greek equivalents.

GENERAL REMARKS ON PTOLEMAIC LEASES.

In this Turin Archive, from the later Ptolemaic period, we have three different types of contract which are called « leases » either by virtue of the opening formula or by the designation in the body of the contract itself. These types are :

1. Leases of revenues of days of emolument, temple chest of charity etc.
2. Locations of houses, rooms, chapels or other places.
3. Leases of lands including farming-leases and share-crop agreements.

In Greek Papyri all these different types of leases are designated by the collective term μισθωσις; in Demotic they are called « shn ». They usually begin with the lessee addressing the lessor « thou hast leased to me », then follow the indications of the subject with a precise description as to its size and situation. To that are added the words which refer to the rent agreed upon either in money or in kind, the duration of the lease and the penalty in case one of the parties fails to accomplish the performance of the contract. Pledges are given, sureties are provided and payments of rents are secured by different stipulations. From the number of documents dealing with acknowledgements of payments, it seems that the majority of the people fulfilled their obligations. Sometimes we meet with documents dealing with payments of penalties to the burnt offerings of the kings and sometimes with documents dealing with law suits arising from violation of contract. At last, people are advised not to break their engagements « O' true believers, perform faithfully your contracts (سورة المائدة — يَا أَيُّهَا الَّذِينَ آمَنُوا اوْفُوا بِالْعَهْدِ ) Quran-sura : The Table (1)

In Roman Law, the location of a house (locatio conductio) or the lease of services (locatio conductio operarum), were also secured by contracts. This shows that the Egyptian Law, long before the Roman, was mature for it was a law of obligation derived from the agreements of individuals and the contract had achieved a considerable degree of perfection. These obligations stipulated in these leases can be summarized as follows :

I. In leases of revenues.

1. The lessee takes on himself.

- A. to perform libation, divine-services or mortuary-services.
- B. to take salaries and stipends.
- C. to pay rent and give income.
- D. to leave the res at the expiration of the term.

2. The term of the lease is usually one year, sometimes 3 or 5 years (in the location of the temple chests of charity).

3. The average rental is one silver piece per month (for 3 days of emolument) payable monthly (when the term is one year) or annually (when the term is 3 or more years).

4. The penalty in case of breach of contract is usually 600 silver pieces (i. e. fifty times the rent) paid to the burnt offerings of the kings.

5. The agent (representative) of the lessor is to cite accusation against negligence (i. e. could conclude or dissolve the contract if he found that the lessee was not performing the stipulated services or could not pay the rental).

6. The lessor has a claim against the lessee to cause him to act according to the terms of the contract.

II. Location of houses.

1. The lessee takes on himself :

- A. to occupy the property and maintain it during the fixed period.
- B. to pay the rent per month.
- C. to quit the property at the expiration of the contract.
- D. to pay a fine of 600 silver pieces to the burnt offerings of the kings in case of breach of contract.

2. the term of the lease is usually one year.

3. the average rental is 3 silver pieces per year at the rate of  $1/4$  silver piece per month for an apartment.

4. the agent of the lessor is to cite accusation against the lessee concerning negligence, injury or damage of the property.

5. All and everything owned by the lessee is in pledge for the fulfillment of the contract.

6. If the lessee dies before the accomplishment of the contract, his children will be responsible.

III. Leases of land.

1. The land in these leases lay in the divine-endowment of Amun (i. e. Hieratic land  $\gamma\eta\ i\epsilon\rho\alpha\tau\iota\kappa\eta$  owned and administered by the temples).

2. The lessors and lessees are men with priestly titles.

3. The land is described as consisting of a definite number of aruras — usually small plots amounting to 6 or 7 aruras.

4. The lease is usually for one year, from the inundation of a certain year to the inundation of the next.

5. The lessee supplies everything required for farming the land; oxen for ploughing and harvesting, seed  $\tau\alpha\omega\iota\kappa$ , labourers and implements of agriculture for sowing and harvesting.

6. The crop with which the land was to be sown is specified sometimes : mhy = flax, Wra = Horse-beans فول, sm = clover برسم, mdl = onions بصل, gwd = safflower-seed قرطم, mostly wheat, barley and oats. When the crop is not specified, it is presumed that it was determined by the rotation of crops.

7. Some of the leases are farming or share-crop agreements.

8. Rental is fixed either by money or in kind.

9. The payment of the harvest tax and Pharaoh's tax is the responsibility of either the lessor or the lessee according to their agreement.

10. The lessee delivered the rental in kind at a certain time to a certain place (mostly the house of the lessor in the village) being clean without expense or freight.

11. The lessor's responsibility was to remove all claim of the State (Lit. King or Queen as Symbol of the State) from the lessee.

12. Rental and taxes were paid when harvest had occurred.

13. The agent of the lessor was entitled to cite accusation and surplus of farmer against the lessee.

14. The lessee had to quit the land in the presence of the lessor at the expiration of the term of the lease.

15. The penalty in case of breach of contract was, in most of the leases, 600 silver pieces.

IV. The terms for the repayment of Loans of corn were very heavy :

First, the interest was 50 per cent i. e. 7 artabas repaid  $10\frac{1}{2}$  artabas.

Secondly, the deposit for repayment consisted of the following objects :

a perruque valued at 300 silver pieces

2 jars valued at 25 silver pieces

2 vases valued at 125 silver pieces

1 mortar valued at 50 silver pieces

1 priestly uniform valued at 20 silver pieces.      Total about 520 silver pieces.

If the debtor fails to repay the debt, then all these objects were ceded to the creditor (See Tur. 13).

Thirdly, the penalty of the breach of contract was the payment of a fine of :

10 talents for the kings burnt offerings.

10 talents for Montu.

10 talents for Amun at Jeme (see Turin 44).

or a certain fine paid to the temple alms (see Turin 18).

(Cf. Adler 10 ; the interest was 100 per cent, 16 artabas repaid 32 ; the pledge was a deed kept in a wooden 'rr').

In concluding these notes we may ask ourselves what are the tasks that still await us in the field of Egyptology?, a question to which Peet gave an answer in 1934. First, the publication of the masses of the unpublished Papyri in the museums ; secondly, the republication of those which have been inadequately published.

Now, under the editorship of Professor Giuseppe Botti, the Turin museum has published L'Archivio Demotico da Deir El-Medineh in two volumes one for the texts and the other for the plates (Felice Le Monnier, Firenze 1967). This publication consists of the transliteration and translation of 45 documents introduced by three chapters and concluded by indices and bibliography.

Chapter I : on the history of the archive, the two jars in which it was found and the previous studies made by Sir H. Thompson <sup>(1)</sup> and myself <sup>(2)</sup>.

Chapter II : a precise summary of the contents of the documents.

Chapter III : the civil and religious life of the priests of Hathor at Deir-el-Medinah as revealed in this archive.

The indices contain lists of Divinities, Royal names, Eponymous priests and Notaries, proper names, titles and occupations, place-names, metrology, months and days of the month, numerals, a glossary and bibliography. The plates are arranged so well in a separate volume that they can be used without any difficulty.

This publication is invaluable for it bears on several matters concerning the Social, Religious, Legal and Economic conditions of the Upper-Egyptians under the Ptolemaic rule in the 2nd century B. C. Further studies, however, should be pursued in regard to the history of the families and their properties. Genealogical tables should be built up after the correct reading of the personal names. From this, many important results should follow in the fields of Sociology, Religion, Law and Economics. I wish to congratulate Professor G. Botti for this great effort and present the following observations on the translation of the individual papyri. My method of transliteration is based on that of the British School of Griffith-Thompson-Glanville. Professor Botti, however, uses the historical system but I hope that this will not cause confusion.

<sup>(1)</sup> Eponymous Priests, in Studies presented to Griffith 1932, pp. 16-31. Turin Museum, in Acta Orientalia XXV, 3-4, pp. 203-228.

<sup>(2)</sup> The unpublished Demotic Papyri in the

Tur. 3, l. 5, p. 38, Pl. V and Tur. 4, l. 20-21, p. 47, Pl. V<sup>(1)</sup>.

Botti has read the same words as follows : in l. 3 — r.in-j db<sup>3</sup>-hd n p<sup>3</sup> hrw e.w p<sup>3</sup> p<sup>3</sup> hd in Pr-<sup>3</sup> e-w m<sup>3</sup>-ty grp r-r-w and in l. 20-21 — r in-j db<sup>3</sup> hd iwte-j irm-k hr p<sup>3</sup> 'js n Pr-<sup>3</sup> e-w ir n-n p<sup>3</sup> j<sup>3</sup> grp h<sup>3</sup> r-r-w. In both documents we should read : a 'n-y etbe ht n p 'y<sup>3</sup> n Pr-<sup>3</sup> o e-w 'r n-y Tygrp a-ar.w = which I bought from the Royal Bank (where) they made for me a « διαγραφη » concerning them (see supra, p. 101).

Wit. 1, p. 42, Pl. VI, should be read 'Mn-h<sup>3</sup>tp son of Pa-h<sup>3</sup>rt (cf. Tur. 11, Wit. 13 pl. XVI and ERICHSEN, Glossar 392).

Tur. 4, p. 48, l. 45, Pl. VII; P-rm-mm  the man of the Düm-tree (THOMPSON, Theb. Ostr., No. 82). Cf. arabic الدوى.

Tur. 5, Pl. VIII : the end of line 1 Eupator is mentioned before his father Philometor because he died before him (see REICH, MIZRAIM III, 29 and GRIFFITH, Ryl. III, p. 140).

l. 4, p. 54 in the list of the woman's possessions Botti reads : Kt-4-t r hd 70. This should be t't 4 a ht 70 = 4 hands making 70 silver pieces. This word t't read by Grapow and followed by Erichsen (Elephantine, p. 9) and Lüddeckens (Ehe, p. 303) was translated as Gerät? Handgriff? Henkel? = tool, implement, grasp or handle. I suggest the arabic word خمسة, a small golden amulet worn at the forehead against the evil eye. It is made in the form of a hand with five fingers, hence the word خمسة, Khemësa, a diminutive of Khamsa meaning five. It would be a suitable interpretation for an ornament-amulet to be taken by the woman with her finger-rings, collars and the rest of her possessions more suitable than a tool or an implement. Such amulets in the form of hands, open or closed, are found in excavations and in the museums (e. g. REISNER : Amulets, Pl. IX, Nos. 12111-12119 etc.).

<sup>(1)</sup> Tur. 3=the number of the document given to it the text; l. 5=line 5; p. 38=page 38 in the text; Pl. V=the number of the plate in the second volume and Wit. 10 stands for the number of the witness in the list.

Tur. II and passim : the 'n-šn is the most expensive object in the woman's lists of her possessions which occur in marriage documents. The exact meaning of this word has not yet been determined. Griffith translated the word as wig (in Ryl.) and scarf (in Adler) ; Erichsen translated : Perücke (in Elephantine p. 7) and Brautschlier=bridal veil ; Thompson (Siet 69, n. 5), Hughes (JNES, 16, 57), Lüdeckens (Ehe. 289), Pestman (marriage p. 94) and many other scholars take the word as shawl. In the Ptolemaic period as well as in the later Pharaonic times the  was a perruque ; an artificial cap of hair covering the head with cloth or golden bandage round it. The hair falls, in twined plaits, on the chest showing or hiding the ears imitating Hathor. Sometimes the plaits are interwoven with pieces of gold and this may explain why that perruque was expensive and taxed.

l. 17, p. 93 and passim : at the end of the contract and after the signature of the scribe, another one mostly his father or brother, attests or agrees (Dem. tn p̄xt htr (var.) mtr) to every word written above (cf. Berlin 3099-3100-3102-5508 and Louvre and Turin etc.).

Wit. 9, p. 95, Pl. XVI the name of the father should be read Hr-stm-Àp̄s̄utns (see : ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 479).

Tur. 12, Pl. XVIII, Wit. 14 should be T-Hr.pt' (passim). Wit. 15 the name of the father should be 'O-Pth (Cf. Louvre 2434 and passim).

Tur. 17, p. 112, Pl. XXII.

l. 9 nt e imy.t n̄e.s should be nt e 'nk st ne.s = in which (its upper-floor) belongs to me.

l. 13 dr.t-s and dr-s should be n'm-s = the named, said

l. 14 after the month 12 read 1/6 instead of nb

l. 16 hpr r bn-e-j should be hp a' y = due from me.

l. 18 i.f should be e only without f.

l. 20 P hr sj, read p wh sy.

Wit. List. Pl. XX, Wit. 10 the name of the father is 'o-Pth (see Wit. 15, Tur. 12, Pl. XVIII) Wit. 14 should be Hr-m-hb ; Wit. 16 the father is Hr-p-hm.

Tur. 18, p. 116; l. 6 and 9 in both lines we should read a p hy n Dm' = to the temple-alms of Jeme (cf. Tur. 23, l. 15, Pl. XXVIII, a p hy mbḥ Dm', for hy, see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 267).

Tur. 19, p. 118, Pl. XXIV : l. 3 shn-f should be sk'-f = cultivate it.

l. 6 ty m' should be ty 'r-w ne-w 'sw = cause to make their acknowledgement (of payment .ie 's-w n mh). See infra p. 115.

Tur. 20, p. 120, Pl. XXIV : l. 4 pe-f tw, read pe-f r' = its (i. e. the days of emolument), income ; translated as magazzino (granai) per le necessarie proviste dei fedeli intervenienti alle feste dei cinque giorni epagomeni (see p. 265).

l. 13 read nt e-k a mr shnt-f n-f = (the man) whom you wish to lease it to him.

Tur. 21, p. 125, Pl. XXVII : Wit. 9 read Pa-t-n'm.w ; Wit. 10 read son of Irt-Hr-p-hrt.

Tur. 22, p. 126, l. 4 and l. 9 read : e-y h' t n hmt = If I abandon thee as wife...

Tur. 23, p. 129, Pl. XXVIII : l. 2 Kmj should be hms = who sat (see ERICHSEN, Glos. 308).

l. 6 'h' mte-k tn-j r rmt hy n 'Mn-htp should be st mte-k a 'y e'r P.'hy s 'Mn-htp = I owe you (see the loan formula p. 79 my Family Archive. For the name P.'hy ~~tymos~~ - the Jubilee : see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 40).

l. 7 Pa-Wn should be Stna. Cf. Tur. 4, Wit. 15, Pl. VII and Tur. 16, Wit. 4, Pl. XXI.

Tur. 24, p. 132, Pl. XXIX : l. 12 p'ew sm should be pe-w htr = its tax, duty (see ERICHSEN, Glossar 343) l. 13 p' mnk should be p'bt = the month (see ERICHSEN, p. 27).

l. 15 should be : nt hry e'r hr-k mte-k shnt-w a p rm nt e 'rk mr shnt-w n-f p rm n'm-n n s' 2 (or ht 2) nt e-f st = ... aforesaid in thy presence and thou leasest them to the person whom you wish to lease them to him, the man of us 2 persons who (fails to act accordingly ...) see passim.

Wit. 5, p. 134, Pl. XXIX, the father is Pa-Mont (passim) ; Wit. 14 the name of the father is probably Htr ~~aswt~~ (cf. ERICHSEN, Glossar, 341).

Tur. 25 B. p. 139, Pl. XXI : l. 14, krḥ should be hrḥ = maintain : l. 17, hpr r bn-e-j should be : hp a 'y = due from me.

Tur. 25 C, p. 142, Pl. XXXII : l. 12, p<sup>3</sup> sh should be p y<sup>h</sup>=the field.

l. 13 and l. 20 : 'k should be 'tn م = land (arab. طين). Cf. ERICHSEN, p. 47 and HUGHES, Sait. Dem. Leases, p. 72.

l. 17 wt n'm·w r mh should be 'r·w ne·w's·w n mh = make their payment receipts (see note above and my Family Archive, p. 79) ~~xx-1w~~.

Tur. 26, p. 148, Pl. XXXIV : Wit. 4 may be 'Mn-htp son of P.wš; the father of Wit. 8 may be 'Nh-p-hrt.

Tur. 28, p. 152, Pl. XXXV : l. 5-6 : irm rwš 'w n hy should be hn'pe.w 'o n hy = together with their excess in measure. l. 9, dd: n hd 48 should be : pe.w wt ht 48 = their cash-money (equivalent) 48 pieces of silver (see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 163).

*Tur. 29, p. 153, Pl. XXXV: l. 2 tj-s nb.t should be : te-y mh = I am satisfied, I am paid (cf. receipts of acknowledgements of payments in my Family Archive II, p. 80).*

l. 4, mte-j htp-f should be mte-y ty htp-f=I will cause to rest him.

l. 5, bn-p-j šnte-t t;e-f pš hd should be : bn-e-y šn ge ht = I shall not ask for another money. l. 5, e nt ph read mte-k, l. 8, n hr Pr.‘; should be n t Pr.‘o-t (of the Queen).

Tur. 30, p. 155, Pl. XXXVI: l. 12 wrš should be Wr<sup>r</sup> = apaxos = horse-beans: فول
 l. 15 mte-k st'  $\frac{1}{2}$  n ir šnj should be read mte-k prh py yh n mhy = thou shalt cultivate this field with flax (see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 173 and HUGHES, Sait.
Dem. Leases) l. 15-16 read: pe-w  $\frac{2}{3}$  a  $\frac{1}{3}$  a pe-w  $\frac{2}{3}$  'n e-f šp mn hw-hwty e-y ty s n-k = its  $\frac{2}{3}$  to  $\frac{1}{3}$  i. e.  $\frac{2}{3}$  again received without excess, which I gave to thee (for hw-hwty see HUGHES, op. cit., p. 56 ff. and passim).

l. 18 hn' n; mte-j r tj hpr read hn' n nt e-y ty hp = together with that which I shall acquire . . . l. 19 end of the line mnk read 'bt = month.

Tur. 30, p. 158, Pl. XXXVI : Wit. 9 probably son of 'y-m-htp.

Tur. 31, p. 163, Pl. XXXVIII : Wit. 4 is Stm'; Wit. 13 son of Htr.

Tur. 33, p. 168, Pl. XLI: l. 5 nt w;h r-w read nt hr ar.w=attached to them the second reading of wh in the same line is correct—that shall be added to them...

Tur. 34, p. 173, Pl. XLIII : l. n<sup>3</sup> rt.w ; I suggest the reading n<sub>00</sub> hs.w the singers. Cf. also pl. XXXIX. n rt.w is written ~~u~~<sup>u</sup> . Cf. Tur. pl. XLIII C verso.

l. 23, imnte mlte may be 'k hbs = food and clothing.

Tur. 36, Pl. XLIV : l. 8 p<sup>3</sup> rt may be P hs ; l. 14 Kmj to be read tmy = town ; l. 16, r h p<sup>3</sup>e.k mt should be a h p sntc = according to the custom. l. 21 mnk should be p 'bt n rn n t ...

Tur. 37, p. 184, Pl. XLV : l. 18 r sh n-j read n t't pe.k rt = to thy agent (lit. the hand of).

l. 18-19 hr p<sup>3</sup> hw hr nbt should be hr p hw-hwty = for the excess (see supra).

Tur. 38, p. 189, Pl. XLVI : l. 6 mt Mnt should be : bn.p.t 'nt.w = thou didst not bring them, followed by a pe 'y erme.t = to my house with thee : followed by mte.t nt nh<sup>t</sup> = thou art empowered to coerce (stipulations familiar in marriage documents).

P. 190, Pl. XLVI : Wit. 1 read Nht-Mnt ; Wit. 4 may be Bel, the father of Wit. 14 is 'o-Pth.

Tur. 40, p. 194, Pl. XLVIII : l. 11 nt w;h.k should be nt hr.k.

Tur. 43, p. 198, Pl. XLIII : end of line 11 mt = should be ph (i. e. prh) = cultivate.

l. 12 wr should be wr' = αράκος = horse-beans (see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 93).

l. 14 bnr should be wš = without (see ERICHSEN, ibid., p. 101).

l. 14 and l. 16 hw nt e rt should be hw-hwty l. 24 read : e.y st a tm 'r a h mt nb nt hry = If I fail to act unto thee according to every word aforesaid ...

Tur. 44, p. 201, Pl. XLIX : end of line 2 sb should be šm = income (see ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 507 and HUGHES, Sait. Dem. Leases). l. 18 t<sup>3</sup> snt should be t ht = formerly (see : THOMPSON, Suit and ERICHSEN, Glossar, p. 288 = at first, formerly, SPIEGELBERG, Gram., § 414).

These Turin documents offer a great deal of material which may help to clear up some difficulties in Demotic studies. Some examples are given here ; which occur in most of the documents.

(1)  $Hw n snh \sigma_{1,1-1,1}$

Tur. 2 gives a list of  $4 \frac{1}{3} \frac{1}{9}$  days of emolument occurring in the temple of Hathor at Deir el-Medinah as follows :

2012-09-27 16:52:38 0327619100,337,123,323,3426

= Pe.w wn sw 24 sw 25 sw 26 sw 27 sw 28 a hw s'nh 4  $\frac{1}{3}$   $\frac{1}{9}$  hr 'bt nb nt'r s'nh 53  $\frac{1}{3}$  hr rnpt nb
= their list: 24-25-26-27-28 making 4  $\frac{1}{3}$   $\frac{1}{9}$  days of emolument each month making 53  $\frac{1}{3}$  (days) of emolument each year.

s<sup>c</sup>nh = emolument i. e. profit arising from employment. The employment here is the service in the temple of Hathor; the profit is the food presented as offerings to the goddess; described sometimes (see Pap. Berlin 3107) as :

‘k eof hn̄k ’rp sgn klm ॥३॥ त्रिलोकीय विद्युति त्रिलोकीय = bread, meat, beer, wine, butter and bouquet of flowers.

There is also mention of a « shm.t n s<sup>c</sup>nh 61,14, a stipendiary woman, daughter of a priest of Amun T.šr.t Hns daughter of the divine-father, the prophet Ns-pe-wt', the prophet of Jeme ; in whose name the scribes used to write the deeds. She may have received a stated allowance coming out from the revenue of the temple for the past services performed by her father معاش .

Pap. Cairo 31173, p. 282, Pl. 113 gives a list hw n šms = days of service as follows :

30 days from 1-30 Tybi.

30 days from 1-30 Mechir.

18 days from 12-29 Pachons Total 2 months 18 days.

The Demotic Ostraca from Thebes (e. g. Thompson's) mention a temple-month 'bt n ht-ntr during which services, celebrations and feasts were to be done. Solid offerings, beer, oil,  $\frac{1}{6}$  th artaba of wheat and other temple-offerings accrued during that month, became the perquisites of the priests and a matter of contract.

A note on Demotic words for services and remunerations and their Greek equivalents was given by Griffith (Ryl. III, p. 319) but in most of the cases it is difficult to differentiate between them. Scholars translate these words in many different meanings. The verbs used with these names may clear up some difficulties :

'r = to perform is used with thb.w = libations, sms.w 'rs.w = divine and mortuary services.

t = to receive or take is used with šty.w 'hy.w = salaries and stipends.

ty = to pay or give is used with htr and škr = taxes and rental.

All these words should be collected from different texts and studied closely to determine exactly whether they meant the payment of the priests for their religious services or the services themselves.

(2) n hw.w 5 hbw

The days of emolument included the five festival (epagomenal) days, which are frequently mentioned in the Turin papyri. Reich (see MIZRAIM I, p. 100) wrote « I owe to Sir H. Thompson the reading of this hitherto unknown group, who found it written several times most clearly in a papyrus unpublished as yet (reference here is to Tur. 25 A and 21 as well as to others which were used by Thompson in his studies of the Eponymous Priests) ... and who believes that the group is the demotic equivalent for ἡμεραι ἐπαγομεναι = the epagomenal days which were festivals in Egyptian life. Sir H. Thompson transcribes the group thus .

These five days known to us as  = the 5 days upon the year or the little month πικογχιναβοτ, were celebrated for the birth of Osiris, Horus, Isis and Nephtys (see MATTHA, Dem. Ostraca II, 5). The nights of those days were also celebrated (see n grh.w n n hw 5 hb.w = the nights of the 5 festival days. REICH, MIZRAIM I, 49). Those days were subject to contracts of sale, cession or lease together with their income.

(3) r' aik

This word for income has been translated by scholars with different meanings. Brugsch translated Thüroffnung (Dict. III, 841), Spiegelberg (see Cairo 30768 + 30771, Cat. Gén., p. 155, Pl. LX, l. 4), Erichsen (Glossar, p. 238-240) gave Eingang, Stiftung, Hughes (Sait. Dem. Leases, p. 48) translated the word as benefit or sustenance ; Botti interpreted it as « magazzini (granai) per le necessarie provviste dei fedeli intervenienti alle feste dei cinque giorni epagomeni» (see Archivio, p. 265). The word is sometimes confused with the words for door, and the Thesaurus or Royal granary. As I said before all the usages of these words should be collected from different texts and studied closely to determine their exact meaning. I prefer to translate the word as income for it might have been used here metonomically. This income comes out of the five festival days as well as from the sixth festival day

(4) sisnt, 6 nt ss m

Now, it is not my purpose in this article to study the sixth festival day for this has been done by Junker, Sethe (Bürgs. 458), Skeat (MIZRAIM VI, 21), Jelinkova (J. E. A. 39, p. 80) and Hughes in his article on « the sixth day of the lunar Month and the Demotic word for cult guild» in MDAIAK 16, pp. 147-160. I can do no better than to present some examples which occur in Demotic, in the Turin Papyri:

A. The different writings of the name

Tur. 6<sup>A</sup>, l. 4

Tur. 6<sup>B</sup>, l. 4

Tur. 7<sup>A</sup>, l. 7

Tur. 7<sup>B</sup>, l. 7

Tur. 21, l. 13

Tur. 31, l. 4

Tur. 33, l. 4

B. The income of the 5 and 6th festival days

Tur. 9, l. 3

Tur. 31<sup>A</sup>, 4

Tur. 31<sup>B</sup>, 4

Tur. 33<sup>A</sup>, 4

Tur. 33<sup>B</sup>, 4

Botti has translated these texts as : posta della sinodos (dei giorni di festa), but whether they signify « Sixth Day Festival» or « Sixth Day Societies» depends upon the interpretation of the group similar to the word for income  which is written in the plural before the 5 festival days, and in the singular, feminine or masculine, preceding or following the sisnt as shown in the above examples. Botti transcribed it as s.t with the meaning σύνοδος but whether this meant « festival» or « guild» is not clear. The word in Demotic is determined with the sign for place and as I mentioned above, it may have been used metonomically. In any case, the demotic evidence from the Turin Archive is immense and it is hoped that more studies will be carried out by modern scholars to clear up many difficulties in Demotic studies.

The study of Demotic is very old for it was used as a means to decipher the Hieroglyphics of the Rosetta Stone. Brugsch was the first to study Demotic for the sake of Demotic and it was in 1848 that he had reached rapid but admirable results. His Grammaire Démotique, though out of date now, yet it has been very useful to elucidate the obscure texts of that Language. His pupil E. Revillout was a genius pioneer and though his achievements were immense yet they cannot claim for perfection. The master had been attracted by Literary and Historical texts but the pupil turned his eye to Administrative and Legal texts. Both, opened the way to other scholars ; Spiegelberg, Sethe and Möller in Germany ; Sottas and Reinach in France ; Krall and Reich in Austria ; Volten and Erichsen in Denmark ; Lexa in Czechoslovakia ; Griffith, Thompson and Glanville in England and Mattha in Egypt. To all those late scholars, all modern students are much obliged.

Some of their publications, though considered as pioneer work and outstanding achievement yet unfortunately they are often inaccurate and inadequate. This is partly because the documents were studied individually where they present a marked homogeneity and constitute one Archive from Thebes ; partly because considerable advance in Demotic studies has been made since that time when they were originally edited and the reading of Demotic was mostly conjecture. Therefore a new edition of those documents would be valuable contribution to our studies which are considered now as a part and parcel of that stream of culture which comes down to us from Ancient Egypt.

Alexandria 22 February 1968.

P.S.— Since the above article was printed I have learnt, with deep regret, of the death of Professor Giuseppe Botti. In his death, Egyptologists have suffered a grievous loss of one of the very few Demotists.

M. EL-AMIR.